The " Gift of Skiing" program

This entry level program is dedicated to providing an introductory experience to winter sports for the whole family. Skiers and snowboarders as young as age 6 up to age 13 are accepted. This team focuses on quickly building skills, learning about racing and learning to enjoy the mountain playground. The young athletes are divided by age and skill level into small groups with a coach and parent helpers. Training is weekends on a pre-set schedule spread over the season from December through March. If there is one word to describe what these kids do on the mountain it's ski-ski-ski (or ride). The team groups are always on the move and always having a blast. The program is not a learn to ski/snowboard program. Cisco kids (entry level) must have already skied a few times. Boreal Bombers must be able to link stem turns the length of a slope. Teaching young kids to ski and snowboard is a "gift" and the fundamental goal of this program. Graduates from these teams progress into the All-Mt. Devo, Far West racing, Freestyle or Snowboard teams.
